PRINCE GEORGE BECOMES KING OF GREECE

Revolutionary Party Places Him on Throne Deserted by His Father

ATHENS, Sept. 28.—The crown prince was sworn in as King George II today to replace his father, King Constantine, who fled the throne when a bloodless revolution swept the country.

The ceremonies were presided over by a revolutionary committee of three generals, including General Papoulas, who has evidently replaced Colonel Gonatas as the chief of the revolutionaries.

Immediately after the ceremony, which lacked the pomp that usually attends such events, the revolutionists announced their intention of starting the armies to Thrace to defend the territory from the threatened invasion of Kemal's Turkish nationalists.

L. A. PETITIONS FOR ROOM IN CERRITOS

Mothers of Angelus Tract Beg for Children Through Board

In spite of the ruling by the Glendale Board of Education to refuse all applications to receive outside pupils, the end is not yet, so far as Superintendent White's office is concerned. This morning he received a pleading letter from M. C. Bettinger of the Los Angeles school board, stating he had held three sessions with a committee of mothers from the Angelus tract who declared there was room to spare at Cerritos school. Mr. Bettinger begged the Glendale board to receive the children if possible, because of the fearful congestion in the Atwater school, which has but two rooms in which to instruct 200 children representing six grades, and which has been compelled to resort to half-day sessions.

Mr. White says that since the readjustments have been made in district lines beteween Acacia and Cerritos, the school last named has received 25 to 30 additional pupils and the rooms are now comfortably filled except the ungraded room where the introduction of pupils from the grades would defeat the work there carried on.

Mr. White also says that the Glendale board advised the Los Angeles board last February it would be unable to accept pupils from over the line this year, and it had ample warning of the conditions that now exist. The Los Angeles officials say now that they have the $17,000,000 bond issue they will be able to put the schools of the city in good shape before next fall, including the Atwater school.

Welfare Commission Considers Women's Minimum Wage

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28.—The state industrial welfare commission had set out today to determine once more how much it costs a working girl to live.

A new series of hearings on the subject has been rendered necessary by legal errors in the issuance of the recent order which reduced the minimum wage from $16 to $15 for women workers.

At the first of the hearings held here last night, Fred Gratto, representing some 12,000 women employed in the various trades involving the handling of foodstuffs and provisions, presented a budget to show it costs $20.85 per week for a woman to live.

EXCHANGE CLUB HEARS OF PLAN FOR HOTEL

Glendale Labor and Contractors to Be Given Priority

Members of the National Exchange club were highly honored in having as their guest at the regular meeting at the Broadway inn, Wednesday noon, Lon Haddock of Santa Monica, who, after the luncheon, gave a very enthusiastic and interesting talk on the wonderful growth of this section of California and emphasized what Col. Hobson mentioned at the chamber of commerce forum meeting Tuesday, that foundations were being laid in Los Angeles and environs for the greatest empire the world has ever known. This, he said, was evidenced by the figures showing the rapid increase in population in the cities of Southern California.

He was impressed with the name of the Exchange club, which has as one of its aims, the upbuilding of the commonwealth through the mutual exchange of ideas and business practices and principles, looking forward, not backward. In his remarks, Mr. Haddock made it clear to his hearers that it was the duty of every man, as a citizen of the United States, to so conduct his life as to leave this world better than he found it, so far as the individual life was concerned.

Another guest present was P. J. Hayselden of the Glendale Advancement association, who presented in a brief way the Glendale hotel pronosition, stating that it was the intention of the promoters to have the hotel built and furnished by Glendale labor and by Glendale merchants so far as possible.

Assistant Secretary Black read a message of good cheer from President W. B. Kelly and Secretary James A. Howarth, who are attending the national convention of the Exchange club being held in Louisville, Ky., this week.

Master Ed Radke, son of Ed Radke, the jeweler, was also present as a guest. The attendance prize was won by W. Q. Widdows.

Members present were G. C. McConnell, W. H. Black, Dr. H. R. Boyer, Ed N. Radke, Fred E. Hoyt, Geo. Whitaker, Dr. J. A. Belyea, E. B. Sutton, Fred S. Hill, A. Gelmor, W. C. Waring, S. F. Bell, G. H. Westburg, Arthur Sherborne and W. Q. Widdows.

The meeting was presided over by Vice President G. C. McConnell.

KIWANIS HEARS SEWER PROBLEM OF THE CITY

Committee Secures Data for Basis of Fight to Secure Improvement

That the Kiwanis club is back of the Glendale council in its fight for sewers was conclusively shown at the meeting of the sewer committee of that organization held in the city hall last night. At this meeting Mayor Robinson and City Manager Reeves explained the sewer problem in full to the members of the committee. Every phase of the matter was gone into with the result that the committee stated that both it and the members of he Kiwanis club stand ready at any time to do everything possible to assist in this matter, which is extremely vital to Glendale at this time. The committee will not endeavor to work separately in this matter, but stands ready to cooperate with similar committtees from the other civic and social organizations of the city.

The sewer committee of the Kiwanis consists of the following: Lon Baird, chairman; C. B. Murphy, W. C. Page, Dr. J. P. Luccock and Dr. R. M. Richey.

SCHOOL HOLDS KEY TO GLENDALE'S FUTURE

By JOHN H. GERRIE
Civic Development Expert

Another bond issue of paramount interest will be voted upon by the electors of Glendale on October 20. It will be a supplementary high school bond issue of $350,000 to raise funds primarily to acquire a site for future use in the northwestern section of the city, and, secondly, to complete the sum necessary to give Glendale the finest high school plant in California.

Glendale, as the fastest growing city of its class on the continent, also is hitting up records in the growth of school enrollments. As fast as new schools are completed they are filled with pupils. High school attendance is increasing yearly at a rate in excess of 33 per cent, last year the increase being 42 per cent over the equal period preceding.

No matter what else may be lacking, GLENDALE MUST TAKE CARE OF ITS YOUNG PEOPLE. The future of this beautiful community depends upon the character of its future citizens and that character will be moulded largely in the schools of the city and particularly in the high school.

The first consideration of the present, therefore, ought to be for the educatoin of the men and women of the future. There must be school plants to accommodate all persons here of school age, not only this year and next year and the year after, but five years, ten years, twenty-five years hence. There must be accommodation and facilities and room for expansion, otherwise the city will come to a point where it will retrograde instead of progress.

The bond issue of $350,000 is to insure such accommodation, facilities and room for expansion for YEARS TO COME. The site to be acquired in the northwestern section of the city will be on the slope of the mountains, where large residential development may be expected in the next few years. The land may now be bought in acreage at a reasonable price and is calculated to rapidly increase in value. If left until the demand for a high school in that section of the city becomes urgent a central site will be almost prohibitive in price. Several sites are now under consideration at prices ranging from $2500 to $4500 per acre. From fifteen to twenty acres will be required. It will be GOOD BUSINESS to buy now.

The balance of the funds raised by the bond issue after payment for the northwestern site will be added to the building fund of the Union high school on East Broadway. That plant when completed will cost approximately $1,000,000, the architect's estimate being $937,000 without increased size of wings in the original plans as already seen to be imperative. It will be an institution of learning of which all Glendalians may well be proud and as an asset to the city in attracting enlightened population, capital and advertising mention will be WORTH MANY MILLIONS of dollars.

The Broadway high school of Spanish mission type will be architecturally one of the handsomest school edifices in America and will provide at the outset accommodation for 2500 pupils. The twenty-five-acre site on which it will stand will afford space for additional wings in future years.

The central feature and heart of the institution will be a splendid auditorium to seat 2500 persons at one time. If the forthcoming bond proposition be carried the auditorium will be built as planned. If by any unforeseen chance it should be defeated the AUDITORIUM WOULD HAVE TO BE ELIMINATED. That is an eventuality that seems almost unthinkable.

Glendale is now BUILDING FOR ALL TIME. If through lack of interest of the voters it be made necessary to skimp in the new high school plans, that institution will be placed under a HANDICAP that may take years to remove. Glendale is now leading the procession in growth but future development must be planned on a broad farseeing scale in order not only to remain at the head of the procession but to KEEP UP WITH THE PROCESSION. The future greatness of this gate city is intertwined with its school building.

BOY SCOUTS NO. 3 TO RALLY AT CENTRAL

To Meet New Scout Master and Troop Committee of C. of C.

Boy Scouts of Troop No. 3, Glendale, are full of "pep" and enthusiasm these days for things are beginning to brighten very much for them. First came the official announcement that the Glendale chamber of commerce is going to sponsor their troop, then the school board gave them a dandy room to meet in at the Central avenue school and last, but not least, came word that the troop committee have selected a real live wire for the job as scoutmaster.

The name of this man is being guarded very carefully by the committee and will not be divulged until the big meeting tomorrow evening at the Central avenue school which begins at 7:30 o'clock, at which time he will speak to the scouts and meet with them personally.

All boys who have been connected with the troop in the past are invited to this big rally meeting together with the regular members. The new troop committee will be on the job and it has leaked out (not officially) that an honest-to-goodness moving picture machine is to be one of the features of the program. In addition the four scouts who represented the Verdugo hills district at the older scouts conference will be there in person and will tell of their experiences and the things they saw at the conference.

All in all this is going to be a "whiz" of a meeting with lots of "pep" and enthusiasm.

COBB RE-ELECTED MANAGER OF THE MERCHANTS' TEAM

City Officials Congratulate Him on Showing Organization Has Made

John A. Cobb was re-elected manager of the Glendale Merchants' baseball team, at a meeting held at the Sport Shop last night. City Manager Reeves and Mayor Robinson complimented Cobb on the efficient manner in which he had conducted the affairs of the club this summer.

"Glendale has a wonderful ball team and I am for them, one hundred per cent," said Mr. Reeves.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. Reeves. One of the first acts of the meeting was to elect a captain and a secretary.

Ray Dosta, manager of the Sport Shop at 146 S. Brand, was elected to fill the position of secretary. Mr. Dosta has been connected with baseball clubs for a number of years and should prove a very efficient secretary.

The position of captain will be filled by H. H. Griffin, who plays left field on the local team.

It was further decided by those present that the club will hold regular meetings on the second and fourth Wednesday of each month.

According to Manager Cobb, extensive improvements will be made in the local park at San Fernando and Park. In order to provide a shade for the spectators a roof will be erected on the grandstand.

"Complaints have reached me that many ladies and some men would like to attend the games but the fact that there is no shade prevented them from doing so. This will be remedied as soon as possible," said Cobb.

Portland to Have Musicless Day to See How It Sounds

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 28.—Portland's city council today proclaimed November 4 as a day to be absolutely without music—instrumental or vocal.

The flute, harp, sackbert, psaltery and all kinds of music, including the jazz saxophone and the jews harp, will be conspicuously silent for 24 hours.

The Portland Musicians' club inaugurated the move. They want to show Portland people how terrible life would be without music.

Some other charms must be invoked that day to sooth the savage beast.

Films will run to hushed houses. Vaudeville artists will have to get along with the music created by their shoes. The fellow next door will play with the plugged cornet, if at all.

TAG DAY PLAN IS ORGANIZED BY DISTRICTS

Committee Divides City Into Sections and Appoints Captains

Great progress is being made on plans for tag day, which will be held Saturday of this week, to aid the fund for the electrification of Glendale avenue.

The tag day committee met last night at the chamber of commerce with Dr. Jessie A. Russell in charge, and Mrs. Helen E. MacMullin as secretary.

The town was partially laid out in districts last night, those in charge being as follows: South of Windsor road in charge of Mrs. W. C. Mabry and Mrs. E. J. Morgan; from San Fernando road to Brand between Windsor and Colorado, Mrs. L. T. Rowley; from Colorado to Broadway, between Central and San Fernando, Miss Eva Daniels; from Brand to Glendale avenue and from Colorado to Windsor, Mrs. E. B. Moore.

Mrs. Helen E. MacMullin will supervise the groups, who will call on the business houses Saturday. Dr. Laura Brown and the Business Women's club will supervise the groups who have charge of the principal street car stops.

A unique program is being planned for Saturday evening with speeches and music.

The northeast and northwest sections will be organized today and their chairmen will be announced later. Full committtees are cooperating.

The tags, as has heretofore been announced are 25 cents, 50 cents and one dollar. Volunteers to cooperate with committees on the street and to help with the house to house canvass who can give an hour or more, will help if they can telephone the chamber of commerce, Glendale 1262, Mrs. Tight 1657, and Miss Eva Daniels, 911-M.

Another committee meeting will be held Friday afternoon at 3:30 at the chamber of commerce. Reports of the progress made and final completion of details will be announced. Tags may be sold on Friday evening from house to house for those who cannot help on Saturday.

SHRINE CLUB IS HOST TO LADIES

Members Entertain Wives with Dinner Dance and Musical Program

"Ladies' Night" was observed Wednesday night when the members of the Glendale Shrine club entertained their wives at a delightful dinner and dance, in the auditorium of the chamber of commerce.

The delicious dinner was entirely home-cooked, having been furnished by the ladies and it was served in banquet style by the gentlemen, assisted by Mrs. Chas. Purcell, wife of one of the Shriners, and the caterers of the Glen inn. China and silver were also furnished by the Glen inn. The club colors of red and yellow were carried out in the decorations, using cannas and carnations.

Following the dinner an amusing program was presented. Four members of Kelly's Shrine club orchestra played solo numbers. They were Michel Kauffman, piano; Earl Floyd, saxopohone; C. J. Donaldson, clarinet, and A. M. Kelly, violin. These numbers were greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. James A. Belyea gave two clever readings and a comedy sketch entitled, "Three o'Clock in the Morning," was very cleverly put on by Tom S. Moore.

Following the program, dancing continued until midnight, music being furnished by Kelly's Shrine club orchestra. One specialty dance was entitled "The Old Gray Mare." This was a novelty fox trot, especially requested by E. F. Heisser, president, and Charles Hahn, secretary. Mr. Hahn was unable to be present as he is in the east.

Everyone reports a jolly good time, and the ladies all say that this was the nicest affair they have ever attended, given by the Shriners.

MAYOR ROBINSON JOINS CITY EXECUTIVES FIGHTING THE TRANSPORTATION MEASURE

With Councilman Davis, Attends Meeting of California City Chiefs in Opposition to Constitutional Addition No. 30

DECLARES IT VITIATES ALL COUNCIL

Declares Power Over City Railway, Automobile Busses, Jitney Lines and Other Franchises Given to Railroad Commission

Mayor Spencer Robinson and Councilman Davis of Glendale have aligned themselves with the mayors of the other leading cities of Southern California against the transportation amendment, constitutional amendment No. 30, which will be presented to the voters at the November election.

The mayors of a number of the cities of Southern California went on record at a meeting held on Monday in the office of the mayor of Los Angeles, as being strenuously opposed to the transportation amendment. This amendment, in brief, puts in the hands of the railway commission the power to regulate all railroad and motor bus matters in the state, to grant franchises for either railroad or motor bus lines, and to prescribe the terms and conditions of such franchises, and to prescribe the rates and fares to be charged by such lines. In other words, it takes out of the hands of city councils over the entire state the power to grant motor bus or railroad franchises or to have anything whatever to do with railroad or transportation matters.

"If this amendment receives the favorable vote of the people in California, the councils of the many cities of the state might as well shut up shop and go home," said Mayor Robinson this morning. "It will be necessary for the railway commission to call at each city about once a month, and hold a session of a few minutes to pass on the railroad matters of the city. We'll have to take just what they want to give us in the way of transportation, rates, conditions, etc., just as we did in connection with the fares on the Pacific Electric between Glendale and Los Angeles. It is a corporation measure pure and simple, and the people should vote it down."

The following resolution was adopted at the mayor' conference:

"Resolution by the mayors representing the following cities of California—Ontario, South Pasadena, Riverside, Anaheim, Pomona, Inglewood, Fullerton, Santa Ana, Glendale—at a meeting held in the mayor's office of Los Angeles this 25th day of September, 1922.

"That, after a full discussion of proposed constittuional amendment No. 30, commonly known as the 'transportation amendment,' to be voted upon at the November election, and which amendment in effect takes away from cities all power to grant street railway franchises, including automobile busses and jitney line, within city limits;

"That we are opposed to said amendment and feel that the various city governments can as well, if not better, run their own affairs than to continue to follow the policy advocated by same to turn over so many municipal affairs to the state railroad commission, which already has enough to do;

"We believe that city councils and boards of supervisors should be encouraged rather than discouraged to take a prominent part in the government of their communities."

The different cities were represented by the following mayors: Ralph L. Criswell, president of the Los Angeles city council and acting mayor of that city; P. Dodson, South Pasadena; W. D. Ball, Ontario; S. C. Evans, Riverside; Wm. Stark, Anaheim; Thomas R. Ovington, Pomona; S. H. Spafford, Inglewood; W. F. Coulter, Fullerton; F. G. Mitchell, Santa Ana; Spencer Robinson, Glendale. Councilman Davis, of Glendale, also was present.

Article XLL of the proposed transportation amendment, to which the heads of the various cities object so strenuously, reads as follows:

"Section 23-c—Exclusive power is hereby conferred upon the railway commission (a) to grant franchises, determine or indeterminate as to time, for the construction and operation of street, interurban and suburban railways, and for the operation of motor vehicles for the transportation of persons or property for compensation upon the public streets and highways; (b) to prescribe the terms and conditions of such franchises, provided, however, that rates and fares charged thereunder shall at all times be subject to regulation by the railway commission; (c) to accept the surrender of all such franchises heretofore granted.

"In proceedings for fixing rates and fares and for taking property under the power of eminent domain for public use by the state or any municipality or other political subdivision thereof, franchise granted pursuant to this section shall be deemed to have no pecuniary value; and all such franchises shall terminate as prescribed by the railway commission and in any event, upon the acquisition by the state, or by any municipality or other political subdivision thereof, of the property owned or operated thereunder.

"The acquisition, ownership, operation, and management of public utilities by the state or any municipality or other political subdivision thereof, shall be governed as now or hereafter provided by law, notwithstanding the provision of this section."

VICTIM OF 'EMPTY' REVOLVER CAN NOT LIVE

Raymond Franklin of North Adams Street Is Slowly Dying

Raymond Franklin, aged 21, of 346 North Adams street, who was accidentally shot Sunday afternoon by a companion, cannot recover, according to the agreement reached yesterday by a number of specialists of Los Angeles. The examination proved that the bullet, after entering the neck of young Franklin, took a circular course, during which it struck and shattered one or more vertebraes of the spine. After leaving it was deflected backward, lodging in the left shoulder. Due to the shattering of the spine the lower portion of the victim's body is paralyzed. He is suffering very little pain, but physicians say death is but a matter of a few hours.

The accident in which Mr. Frankling was injured occurred in a portion of the garage of his home at 346 North Adams. The young man used the section of the garage as a sleeping compartment and has it arranged in an attractive manner. Franklin and his two companions were playing with the revolver at the time of the accident. It was supposed to have been unloaded.

In a statement to Chief Fraser of the Glendale police department, yesterday, Mr. Franklin exonerated his companion from all blame, declaring that it was purely an accident.

Lieutenant Governor Appreciates The Glendale Press

Editor Press,
Glendale, California.

Dear Sir: I have just received from Sacramento the official returns on my contest for re-nomination as Lieutenant-Governor, showing that I was given nearly 48,000 votes in Los Angeles county.. Inasmuch as my opponent was a resident of your county, I was more than surprised to have received there a vote ninetenths as large as his. It was a clean contest with no sore spots, and the results were all I could have asked.

I desire to express to the voters of Los Angeles county my appreciation of their generous support, and especially wish to thank the "Press" as one of the newspapers of the state whose good will toward my candidacy helped secure for me a majority of over 150,000.

Trusting that my second term as Lieutenant-Governor may fully justify this splendidly generous endorsement, I am

Yours very sincerely,
C. C. YOUNG.

Mrs. Hanning introduced all the teachers to the mothers from the different rooms in order to make them better acquainted with the class teachers.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served in the domestic science room, in charge of Mrs. A. L. Morgan.

The next meeting will be held the fourth Wednesday in October and at this time it will be decided whether the association will continue to hold their meetings on Wednesday or change it to Monday. It is the opinion of the teachers that Monday is a better day.

YORK STATE FOLKS' PICNIC

Dr. Geo. H. MacNeill, phone C4523, president of the New York state society of Southern California calls on all who have ever lived in that state to meet for the great picnic reunion, all day, Saturday, October 7, in Sycamore grove, Los Angeles. Come as early as you can and spend the day with friends. We will have county registers and headquarters so that you can find the old neighbors even with 5,000 present.

There will be a brief program opening about 2 o'clock, but the main purpose will be to have a good time. We want to see all the former residents so as to make this the greatest picnic in our history. Bring your basket well filled and share with friends. Coffee will be served free to all who buy the souvenir badges. Tables can be reserved for college, county, or town reunions. Each one who learns of this picnic is asked to pass the word along. Further information may be had of the president, or of C. H. Parsons, secretary of the Federation of State Societies, Continental National bank, Main at Ninth, Los Angeles, phone 10261, where our registers are kept on file and all may see them.

THE NEW HEAD OF THE G. A. R.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Sept. 28.—Judge J. W. Willett, Tama, Iowa, was elected commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic this afternoon at its national encampment here.

Judge Willett is the first navy man to head the Civil war veterans' organization. He defeated Robert W. McBride, who was senior vice commander of the organization, whose picture is above at the left.

ICE MAKING IS NEW INDUSTRY SINCE 1870

The modern housewife, who can enjoy all the advantages of an abundance of ice at very little expense and without any trouble on her part, probably does not realize that even in her grandfather's time there was no ice manufactured in this country, and that even well-to-do people were often compelled to do without it.

The production of ice by artificial methods began in New Orleans during the closing year of the Civil war, and in 1870 the number of ice factories could be counted on the fingers of one hand. Ten years later there were 37 factories, and in 1890 there were 222.

In the years between 1890 and 1900 people learned much about the health value of ice, and in the latter year the count showed 775 factories. In 1910 the number was 2004, and in 1920 it was 2867. That the new industry filled a long felt need is evidenced by the fact that the total capital invested in the ice factories of the United States increased from about $1,000,000 in 1880 to $38,000,000 in 1900 and about $270,000,000 in 1919, the year covered by the latest census reports.

Manufactured ice is rapidly taking the place of natural ice, even in those states where there is an abundance of natural ice for many months in the year. The latest census shows ice factories in every state in the union except New Hampshire and Vermont.

POTATOES BROWNED IN CREAM

Melt two tablespoons of butter in pan, add two tablespoons of flour, mix well and cook until the flour is browned. then add one cup milk gradually, stirring all the time until the mixture thickens and boils. Add two cups boiled potatoes cut into bits, mix well, spread on pan and brown, without stirring, until surplus moisture evaporates. Turn one half over the other like an omelet, place on hot platter and serve.

HIGH DEBATING TO EXTEND FIELD THIS YEAR

Harold Brewster, instructor in debating at Glendale high, and Principal George U. Moyse, are trying to arrange for some expansion in the debating activities of the school. For several years prior to 1921-22, the school was a member of the Central Debating league, made up of schools in the Central Athletic league, viz. Monrovia, Covina, Alhambra, South Pasadena and Glendale, but as that league for debating was not reorganized last year, Glendale joined the Southern California Debating league.

Miss Walker of Alhambra has been made manager of the Central Debating league and is asking what Glendale will do. The question seems to be whether there is enough debating material in the local school to provide teams for participation in the debates of two leagues. Mr. Moyse and Mr. Brewster are quite in favor of the plan if it can be worked out. believing that enthusiasm can best be aroused by inter-school contests, but they do not want to enter upon any schedule which would make it necessary for any one student to participate in more than two or three debates during the year.

Mr. Brewster has already taken the matter up with his own class in debating and public speaking and will now make a canvass of the students in Miss Corry's tenth year classes in debating. He would like to have about three teams of four each. The value of instruction in public speaking as a business asset is so generally recognized that the school would like to put a little stronger emphasis upon it if possible.

The Southern California league has called its first meeting of the year for Saturday, October 7 and at that time the program of the year will be given out so that the schools entering can prepare for the first debate which will probably take place some time between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

All Badgers are invited whether members or not and the visiting tourists will be very welcome.

KFAC ORCHESTRA PLAYS MUSIC FROM SCRIPT

The usual KFAC orchestra request concert was given Wednesday night via the Press Newton radiophone. Request pieces were played and also several of the very latest pieces, some of which are not yet on sale at the music stands.

One of the outstanding features of last evening's concert was the very latest song hit, "You'll Be Sorry One of These Days." The orchestra played the piece from an orchestration furnished by the composer, Mr. W. H. Russell, who sang the piece. The orchestration is arranged by Vern Elliott.

OBSERVATIONS BY AN OLD TIMER

A little over a year ago, W. W. and Curt C. Sawyer, as Sawyer Brothers company, put up a concrete block building at 510 North San Fernando road and established a feed and fuel business. It seemed to their friends that they were a long distance from custom, but time justified their choice of a location on the busiest highway in Southern California, for their trade has grown to such dimensions that they are building an addition to the rear of their plant, 50 feet square. They will put in an elevator system and also mixers for scratch feed and dry mash. A new and larger delivery truck will be added, also.

When a fish takes the bait on a new hook the act of pulling in the line forces two other hooks into its sides to hold it.

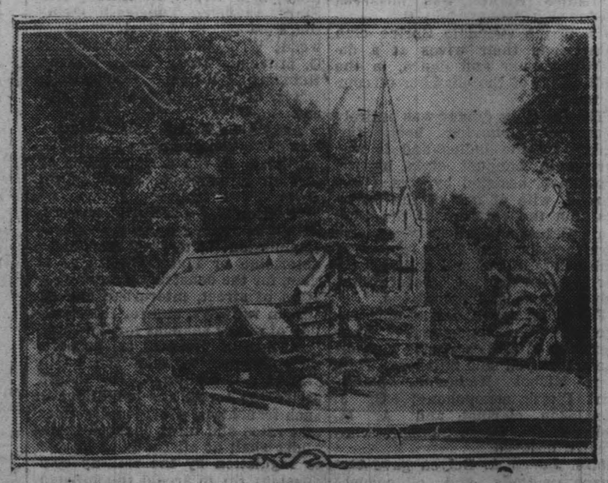
Your Duty—And Your Highest Privilege



To consider the purchase of a cemetery lot today is to act sanely and wisely; to purchase in "Beautiful Forest Lawn" is to exercise extreme wisdom. We have all witnessed the distress of relatives distracted by sorrow, forced to buy a lot when they could least afford it, and sorry they had not purchased at a better time. Great peace of mind is afforded by the thought that when necessity arrives, as it must, a plot in "Beautiful Forest Lawn" has been wisely provided in advance of actual need.

AS AN INVESTMENT and economical measure few purchases yield as high return in dollars and cents, as well as in satisfaction.

In a MEMORIAL park of the highest type with PERPETUAL CARE, such as "Beautiful Forest Lawn" offers, a lot increases in value from year to year. "Putting it off" only adds to the inevitable expense.

A visit to "Beautiful Forest Lawn" will amply repay you. Then, and only then, will you realize that here is California's most beautiful park. So calm and serene that all sense of mortality is lost in the peacefulness and beauty of the place.

Everything that art, science and loving care can devise has been planned for different forms of burial—be it earth burial, mausoleum crypt, cremation, columbarium niche or private vault.

PRESBYTERIAN DIVINES RETURN

Rev. W. E. Edmonds and Rev. Louis Tinning returned last evening from Long Beach, where they had been attending the fall meeting of the Presbytery of Los Angeles. Mr. D. L. Foster was also present as a representative of the local church. Mr. and Mrs. David Black and Rev. Robert Hillis, were also present, Mr. Black being a member of one of the important boards of the Presbytery.

Rev. Edmonds was the principal speaker on Tuesday afternoon at the Sunday school conference. The subject of his address was "The Sunday School and Evangelism." This address provoked considerable discussion and called forth much favorable comment.

Mr. Ray L. Krug, who is a member of the local church was present, and gave his trial sermons, and after examination was licensed to preach the gospel. He will attend San Francisco theological seminary the coming year and after graduating there, is planning to go to China as a foreign missionary.

SAN FRANCISCO COUPLE ARE WED HERE

Miss Cecil Morgan and Ross Ditty, both of San Francisco were united in marriage Tuesday evening at the Tropico Presbyterian church, Rev. Winnard officiating.

The bride was charmingly gowned in ivory satin trimmed with pearls and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies-of-the-valley. She was attended by Mrs. Leonard Ditty, matron of honor, who wore silk over pink satin and carried pink roses. Leonard Ditty attended the bridegroom as best man.

Just before the ceremony, Leonard Lamont sang "O Promise Me" and "Out of the World," accompanied on the piano by Miss Madeline Yeo, who also played the wedding march from Lohengrin.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lamont, 330 El Bonito avenue for about 30 friends and relatives of the young couple. A buffet supper was served.

The young couple left soon for a wedding trip and upon their return will make their home in Los Angeles.

PEARSON TO BUILD

J. W. Pearson, one of the live wire real estate men of Glendale, has just purchased a lot on Brand boulevard, south of Maple, on which he will, within two weeks, begin the construction of a brick building to have a frontage of 25 feet. The building will contain two rooms, one of which will be occupied by Mr. Pearson as a real estate office.

BARGAIN SALE OF STUDENT BODY TICKETS HELD

Class Rivalry for 100 Per Cent Purchases Is Keen

There was considerable excitement at Glendale high this noon, but it turned out to be neither a robbery, a murder nor a fire. Instead it was the annual bargain sale of student body tickets at the slaughter price of $1.50 each.

In the thirty-five roll rooms, class was lined up against class, to be the first to secure 100 percent sales, the first to reach that goal being promised a 5-pound box of candy. The tickets were handed out at 12:10 and 12:40 or ten minutes after rollcall and from that time on it was a scramble to exchange the tickets for the money and rush the returns to room 24, the headquarters where the returns were being checked.

It is expected that 100 percent for the entire school will be reached by the end of the week and that will mean 1400 tickets disposed of.

There was talk of a separate enrollment for the faculty with an equal show for the box of candy, but the instructors said no, they would be so busy with students they would have no chance of getting first to No. 24, so their chance of getting some of the sweets would be greater with the roll room sales.

Managers of the affair reported Mr. Ferguson and Miss Knight would be unable to take tickets and Principal Moyse agreed to let them work it out in the office at 10 cents an hour.

The possession of such a ticket entitles the holder to a weekly copy of the "Explosion," the school paper, to attendance on 12 football games for unlimited and lightweight teams during the season; admission to an equal number of baseball games; admission to all debates, the admission to all of which at 25 cents per ticket would represent an outlay of $5 to $6. It is therefore a very thrifty proposition for the students and gives the student body the necessary funds to finance all these activities.

For three years the school has had 100 percent student body membership, provision being made for students unable to afford the ticket to do work for the organization as an equivalent.

ROLF ENTERTAINS HIS HI Y GROUP

Bert Rolf, who is the head of one of Hi Y groups entertained his boys with a supper in Los Angeles Wednesday night. It was an entirely informal social meeting to talk over plans for the year's work.

P. L. Hatch is entertaining his group at supper tonight, and W. G. Boyd will be host to his group.

All the Hi Y groups will be meeting regularly next week.

$17,000 RAISED BY FIRST BAPTIST

Annual Meeting of Church Shows $9500 Spent for Benevolence

Seventeen thousand dollars was raised by the members of the First Baptist church of Glendale last year, according to committee reports rendered at the annual meeting of the church last night. Of this amount $9500 was used for benevolent purposes, while $7500 was employed in maintaining the local church.

About 150 members of the church were in attendance at last night's meeting, and Rev. E. E. Ford, pastor, presided. The reports from the various departments proved that the church is in a very prosperous condition. It was never better equipped to push forward the work for which it is maintained.

The membership of the church now runs over the 500 mark, 95 members having been added during the past year. It was decided to increase the budget to $7,000, which is $1000 more than the budget for the year just closed. It was also decided that the finance committee will, during the month of October, make an every member canvas, in order to assure the amount of the budget.

The following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year: Trustees, J. M. Banker and R. E. Olin; deacons (3 years) W. E. Grigg, G. N. Hobson, W. A. Stuart; (2 years) Willard Keith; (1 year) F. R. Anderson, J. R. Detwiler; deaconness, Mrs. J. F. Moody, Mrs. L. E. Myers, Mrs. M. J. Piercey; clerk, J. L. Gray; general treasurer, W. W. McElroy; benevolent treasurer, A. Van Wormer; fellowship treasurer, A. McDonald; financial secretary, P. L. Hatch; Sunday school superintendent, R. L. Kent.

REALTY BOARD TO COOPERATE ON TAG DAY

Members to Dispose of Tokens in Their Places of Business

The members of the Glendale Realty board voted unanimously at the board's meeting today to lend every assistance possible in connection with Tag day, which will be held Saturday for the benefit of the drive for the electrification of the Glendale avenue line. While not expected to go out on the streets to sell tags, the members are asked to dispose of them in their places of business and to afford any other assistance possbile.

Mayor Robinson was present and explained why the city council had hesitated to purchase the additional thirteen acres to the Patterson avenue park. He said the council did not like the "strings" that were wrapped around the land. He is in favor, he said, of securing this providing reasonable restrictions will be accepted by the seller.

It was decided to hereafter refer all advertising matters pertaining to the board to the advertising committee.

The matter of observing fire prevention week next week, as suggested by the state insurance board, was approved.

MUTUAL BENEFIT READING CIRCLE OPENS SESSIONS

With more than 60 enthusiastic mothers in attendance, the Mutual Benefit Reading circle held the first meeting of the season in the public library yesterday, the vice-president, Mrs. H. V. Henry presiding.

Mrs. Charles H. Toll, who founded the circle more than six years ago and has watched it grow from infancy to its present enviable status among associations of its kind, was the guest of honor at yesterday's meeting. With her characteristic graciousness she told the members of the deep affection for the circle, disclaiming any undue share in its success, but rather crediting its achievements to the spirit of mutual help and cooperation that has ever been the circle watchword.

In her talk Mrs. Toll described a recent visit paid the National Conference of Mothers in Washington, D. C., and her meeting Mrs. Watkins, executive secretary of that association and Miss Lombard, head of the department of education. In concluding, Mrs. Toll promised the circle to be in attendance more often this year even though unable to give as much time as she would like to on account of other duties.

Mrs. J. C. Danford, librarian and ever-faithful friend of the circle, spoke a few words of welcome and greeting, expressing her enthusiasm for circle work and outlining several recent changes of organization in the library.

Mrs. E. B. Moore, P.-T. A. federation president, followed with a short talk along lines of P.-T. A. work in Glendale.

Following the noon recess and roll call, a new book was taken up entitled, "Mothers and Children," by Dorothy Canfield Fisher. The article next week will be reviewed by Mrs. William Stofft and is called, "Up Grade, But We're on the Way."

The roll call of circle babies had been increased by two new arrivals, children of Mrs. Fletcher and Mrs. H. H. Harris. Eleven new memberships were issued at yesterday's meeting.

Mrs. C. H. Pendleton has asked to be excused from her duties as treasurer, on account of ill health.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE SET FOR DECEMBER

Executive Committee Defers Action on Annual Event

The executive committee of the annual Salvation Army drive which has been in process of preparation for several days, decided in its Monday night meeting at the chamber of commerce to put over the drive in early December, instead of in October, on account of many local community enterprises that are on foot. It was thought that it would mean more for the Salvation Army as well as for the community. Many of the organizations and clubs of the city had already taken action to support the drive and will be fully behind it when it shall come off. Appointment of members to the general committee has been made by several organizations.

The executive committee is composed of Rev. Clifford A. Cole, chairman; Julius Kranz, J. F. McBryde, J. L. F. Perch, Rev. Harley G. Preston, and Dan Keity, all of whom were at the meeting Monday night and are enthusiastic as to the value of the work of the army and as to the fact that Glendale will do its part.

Scott Keeps His Record Clear

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Everett Scott, the "marathon shortstop" of the New York Yankees, recently paid $40 in taxi fare to get to the Chicago ball park in time to play with the Yanks in an important series.

The mere matter of a train wreck and several other obstacles did not discourage him and he succeeded in keeping his long record of competition in consecutive games unbroken.

In figuring how a player of rather frail build like Scott has been able to play in almost a thousand straight games it is only necessary to consider the spirit that keeps him going.

Other ball players might have taken the train wreck as an excuse for an extra day of liberty. Scott didn't and that is the reason why he is making a record that perhaps never will be equaled or surpassed.

Promoters around New York argue that boxing cannot be conducted at a profit for smaller prices than now prevail at the box offices.

It is done, nevertheless, in Philadelphia. With top prices of $3, boxing is conducted the year round in the Quaker city and the outdoor season this summer was a big success.

Cards just as good as are put on in New York were staged at a profit for all. Four big shows were put on at the National league ball park there and the receipts were more than $135,000.

Tex Rickard maintains, however, that boxers who work in Philadelphia for a purse of $10,000 demand $30,000 when he wants to put them on in New York.

They naturally figure, of course, that when so much more is charged for admission in New York that they are entitled to a bigger cut.

There is little doubt that William T. Tilden will be recognized as the world's singles champion in Europe, even if the United States Lawn Tennis Association will not officially award him the title on this side.

The French Tennis Federation already has recommended that Tilden be crowned champion, since he twice defeated Gerald Patterson, the winner of the British title at Wimbledon.

No one in the United States hesitates to admit that the great Philadelphian is the best in the world, but as the United States does not belong to the International Federation, the officials in this country hesitate to assume the role of international dcitatorship.

When Tilden won the British title in 1920 and 1921 at Wimbledon, all the European nations recognized him as the world's champion, but the United States association refused to do so.

The United States Golf association probably will take the same stand about recognizing the winner of the Walter Hagen-Gene Sarazen match as the poen golf champion of the world.

Official recognition, however, does not mean so much. Hagen is the winner of the British title and Sarazen holds two American champinoships, so the winner could not be arrested for claiming to be the champion of the world.

Truths in Epigram

Consider how much more you often suffer from your anger and grief than from those very things for which you are angry and grieved. — Marcus Antonius.

To thine own self be true, and it must follow, as the night the day, thou canst not than be false to any man.— Shakespeare.

MORALS BY SURGERY

A notorious mail robber breaks modestly into print because of a proposed operation on his skull. The allegation is that a portion of the bone depresses a part of the brain area. Due to this circumstance is the desire to commit crime. Remove the bone from contact with the tissue, and into the prisoner will pour a cleansing flood of moral light. He not only will see the error of his ways, but be eager to avoid them. Such is the theory. The prisoner himself is enthusiastic, and scientists are ready to experiment. Perhaps they have some faith in the promised reform; possibly they want the practice.

This prisoner has displayed an average of mentality much higher than the average. He has been a man of boundless courage and quick resource. His one desire in life has appeared to be that of robbing the mails. The booty he procured never did him much good. Bright in some ways, as his conduct proved, in respect of the passion for a particular form of theft, he seemed to be obsessed. In relation to this one activity, however acute his faculties as to method, on the ethical side he was blind as an idiot.

If science, by the lifting of a bone, may lift the soul to a new plane, there might be wisdom in the effort. Perhaps it would be the means of saving others. When the individual begins to show criminal tendencies, a careful inquiry should be made as to whether an osseous dam is the barrier between him and an honest life. It is not easy to see that the proposed operation, even if successful, can do the subject much good. His record has been made and the penalty named. The only way to ascertain whether cure had been wrought, would be by turning the prisoner loose, and this would be risky.

PROTECTING THE WORKMAN

New mob outrages are reported at San Bernardino. This is much to be regretted in every respect. The common sense of organized labor must realize that by such tactics nothing but harm is to be accomplished for the cause that organization represents. The people of San Bernardino, anxious for the fair name of the city, have pledged their best efforts to protection against violence. For the inherent right of every man to work has to be recognized as a simple and fundamental rule of justice. When workmen dissatisfied with wage and conditions, choose to quit, they may, in instances, be wholly justifiable. When they tell another man, who is satisfied, or whose circumstances force him to keep on as though satisfied, that he, too, must throw down his tools, there is no justification.

In time of strike, professional "strike-breakers" are likely to be imported. These men as a rule are characterless rascals, so wholly without principle that the reason for the strike in no manner interests them. They are there for the pay they can get. Often it is far higher pay than had been received or asked by the workmen they displace. In such cases it is no wonder that there should be outbreaks of violence, since the presence of these outsiders is an incentive to violence. Often this is the specific reason for their employment.

But the man who sticks to his task is on a different plane. He is attending to his own business and has a right to attend to it. To seek to stop him is assault, and to seek to kill him is to attempt murder, nothing less.

IN THE FAR EAST

The situation in the Far East is exceedingly difficult to follow through its sudden changes. At this writing the indications are that the Turks will get what they demand. They figured in the world war on the side of the defeated. They never were defeated. Forward they come now laying down the law to the victors. So far as Turkey is concerned, the victory of the allies was highly technical, and altogether hollow. The recreant Constantine, who was instrumental in stirring up the present trouble, is likely to stir up more unless suddenly checked. Perhaps the combined influence of the allies will be sufficient to subdue him, but the Turk does not care much about them. He will get all he wants, or he will fight, and Europe is in no mood for fighting. To see how it could fight, even if in the mood, is difficult. The strongest nations over there are not in position to finance another war. They would feel some embarrassment in calling upon the United States for support.

It is plain that Lloyd George will maintain peace if this is possible. The clamor for conflict is all from the other side. Turkey is eager to fight. It would have the moral support of Germany and of Russia. Probably the tendency is to overestimate the potency of the latter country. Still, precipitation of a war, whatever the attitude of the powers in sympathy with Turkey, would be a calamity of such magnitude, that Europe must sacrifice pride and perhaps principle, to avoid it.

The Turk is a terrible entity. He is neither civilized nor amenable to the teachings of civilization. For generations he has been a problem that statesmen have not had the hardihood to settle. Therefore he remains a problem for generations to come.

"OPPRESSED PEOPLES"

A dispatch says that Russia is absolutely aligned with the movements of the "League of Oppressed Peoples" which includes the Egyptians, Arabs and Indians. The item is significant. It calls to mind the fact that there are oppressed peoples, or peoples who conceive themselves to be oppressed. That no such condition as this should exist, or that there is no possibility of a tranquil civilization while it does exist, are facts plain to the senses. There has been much said concerning the taking up of the "white man's burden." Has he erred in thinking the burden his, and in taking it up?

Doubtless the peoples mentioned are infinitely better off than they would have been in the absence of white influence or actual domination. India, for example, with the withdrawal of white men would relapse into ignorance, superstition and barbarism. It shows a desire to retrograde. It would be glad to abolish all the improvements wrought by modern education, and sink to its old status. Because it is denied the privilege of destroying all that modern culture has accomplished there, it arrays itself with the oppressed peoples.

Russians are an oppressed people sure enough. They are oppressed by the leaders who have the measureless insolence to say that they are for the oppressed peoples everywhere. Why do they not lift the burden from their own down-trodden subjects instead of planting their heels on the necks of them?

"Oppressed peoples," there is reason to believe, often are not oppressed, but desire to become oppressors. Were they granted the right to do this, the world, it is conceivable, would know less liberty than now it knows. The hordes clamoring for freedom, which they do not understand, and could not utilize, would become in part oppressed, but mostly would be burdened by a fresh and more terrible tyranny, as in Russia.

In the month of August there were 617 burglaries reported in Los Angeles. That these figures should be a basis for boasting is understandable only through the fact that they present a decrease of seventy-seven burglaries compared with the July record.

What We Owe to the Past

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The past shackles us, impedes us, angers us with its stupid drag. Progressive minds often rail at it. Yet that is but one-half of the truth, and there are two halves to every truth.

Dr. Frank Crane

We are children of the past. Most of the good things of civilization have been handed to us by the past.

The main reason a child is sent to school is to find out the discoveries and achievements of the past that he may use them for go[illegible]on.

Progress is a matter of growth and in growth there are two elements. One is our connection with the parent stem of the past, the other is the putting forth of our energy into new bloom and fruit of the future.

No program of reform or advancement is of any value that does not have its roots in the past and is not in some way a continuity of forces that have been generated in the past.

Mr. Graham Wallas strikingly expresses this. "If the earth," he says, "were struck by one of Mr. Wells' comets, and if, in consequence, every human being now alive were to lose all the knowledge and habits which he had acquired from preceding generations (though retaining unchanged all his powers of invention and memory and habituation), nine-tenths of the inhabitants of London or New York would be dead in a month, and 99 per cent of the remaining tenth would be dead in six months. They would have no language to express their thoughts, and no thoughts but vague reverie. They could not read notices, or drive motors or horses. They would wander about, led by the inarticulate cries of a few naturally dominant individuals, drowning themselves, as thirst came on, in hundreds at the riverside landing places, looting those shops where the smell of decaying food attracted them, and perhaps at the end stumbling on the expedient of cannibalism. Even in the country districts men could not invent, in time to preserve their lives, methods of growing food, or taming animals, or making fire, or so clothing themselves as to endure a northern winter."

This striking illustration enables us to realize the tremendous value of that accumulated thing called civilization. The excellence of man does not consist in the fact that we have stronger bodies or keener brains than the Athenians had two thousand years ago. In fact, it is doubtful if we are as good animals or as good spirits as they were.

All of our advantage lies in the fact that we have partially learned the secret of co-operation by which the advantages of one generation can be handed on to and utilized by the next.

There are many defects in our present civilization, but to contemplate destroying that civilization to get rid of the defects is about as mad an idea as cutting off a man's head to cure a bad cold.

"Let us hoard every worthy drop of the past," says Owen Wister, "that it shall be a strong tonic for the future."

Virginia Harvey, Cincinnati, O.: "Will you please publish in your column the correct pronunciation of the name 'Deland,' Margaret Deland, the authoress? I am told by educated English people that all we Americans mispronounce it as if it were spelled De Land, when it is very simple, Deland. These English people pronounce it Del' land, accenting the first syllable." Answer: Di-land' (i as in habit; a as in at)—Margaretta Wade Deland. Note: The i in habit is unstressed and obscured.

"Just a Reader", Spokane, Wash.: "What is wrong with the following sentence, please: 'He swum nearly across the stream' What tense is the verb? Should it be 'swam'? Is the following proper: 'If you would have had to go'?" Answer: Either swam or swum is correct. Swam is the past tense only; swum is either the past tense or the past participle. Note: He swam; he swum; he has swum. "If you would have had to go" is proper. Would have had is the past perfect tense of the potential mode.

James S. Larkin Jr., New York City: "Will you please tell me through your column which is correct: 'Is your data ready?' or 'Are your data ready'?" Answer: Are your data ready? Data is the plural of datum.

THE LISTENING POST

The country was thrilled recently and moved to a universal sentiment of pity and sorrow because of the death of forty-seven men in a mine.

Trapped a mile under the earth.

And dying from asphyxiation.

Leaving widows and children in many instances.

* * *

All sad enough to be sure.

Presented flatly to the imagination.

For such a thing as that strikes us forcibly.

We are slapped in the face with the plain fact of death.

The death of men before their time.

* * *

Death is an inexorable fact.

Pitiful when it occurs before the individual has lived out his normal life.

When persons are stricken down in the full flush of life and health.

Before their work has been done.

* * *

The death of him who "wraps the draperies of his couch about him and lies down to pleasant dreams" is not terrible.

It is rather the fulfilling of the law.

The death that is "sustained and soothed by an unfaltering trust."

It is the sudden, shocking and unavoidable death that has the element of terror and pity in it.

* * *

But the startling and spectacular fact sometimes dwarfs and hides the less startling but no less terrible fact.

And that is that we are killing every day through the land many more than were killed in the recent mine accident.

We are killing in our own city and county every month nearly as many.

In accidents due to recklessness, carelessness, disobedience of the law.

* * *

And in addition to the fatalities we are maiming and sending to hospitals thousands more.

To suffer and be crippled and maimed and scarred.

All because of the same recklessness, carelessness and disobedience.

And a death is a death, and to be regretted, whether down in a mine or in the highway in the broad light of day.

* * *

There are the same widowings and orphanings.

The same grief and sorrow.

The same pitiful uselessness and needlessness of it all.

And still the slaughter goes on.

A fool darts out of an alley and dashes his motor car into another passing along the street.

Two useful men are killed.

Just one instance in one day.

Repeated a hundred times over the country.

* * *

It is about time the people of the country took notice of the unnecessary slaughter going on on the highways and in the streets.

Not only took notice of it but took steps to prevent.

And it can be prevented.

But it cannot be prevented with a system of fines.

* * *

A fine is merely a compromising with crime for money.

A kind of legalized blackmail.

If the individual compromised with crime for money he would be a felon.

But society does it and is respectable.

* * *

The driver convicted of reckless driving should have his car taken away from him.

His permission to drive a car revoked.

His liberty taken away for a long enough time to make him reflect.

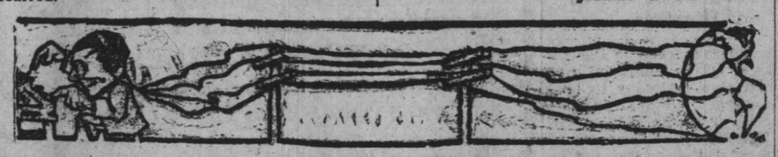
And be punished for manslaughter if he causes death.

* * *

All that is needed to stop the slaughter of people on the highway is a little law enforcement.

And some ginger with it.

JAMES W. FOLEY.



SONGS OF THE POETS

Requiem—By Robert Louis Stevenson

Under the wide and starry sky
Dig the grave and let me lie;
Glad did I live and gladly die,
And I laid me down with a will.

This be the verse you grave for me:
Here he lies where he long'd to be;
Home is the sailor, home from the sea,
And the hunter home from the hill.

NEW LIGHT ON THE ORIGIN OF LIFE

By DR. EDWIN E. SLOSSON

Was the first living being a plant or animal? How could either originate out of non-existing matter?

These are questions that have hitherto baffled scientists. They could trace back, more or less satisfactorily, the lines of development of plants and animals to the simplest and most primitive forms of life, but there they ran up against an insurmountable wall, on the near side of which was the world of living organisms and on the far side the world of inert mineral and inorganic matter.

We all know the non-living matter can be converted over into living matter for we do that ourselves whenever we eat or breathe. We all know that green plants have the power of building up sugar and starch and wood (the so-called carbohydrates) out of the water of the soil and carbon dioxide of the air, for we can see them do it any sunny day. But it is life only that can bring into the living organism this inorganic material. Water and carbon dioxide, which is plain "soda water," does not spontaneously change over into sugar or start to grow into a plant. It requires green colored granules of the leaves, called chlorophyll, to effect this transformation.

But chlorophyll is a very complicated chemical compound. It is formed only by green plants as they develop in the sun's rays from white sprouts. So the plant must exist before chlorophyll is formed. But on the other hand a plant could not exist unless it got its energy from the sugar and other stuff stored up previously by some chlorophyll-bearing plant. Even the simplest green plant cannot live and grow on its nutritive salts in the sunshine unless it has a bit of plant-stuff to feed on as a starter.

We might surmise as a way out of the dilemma that animal life came first on the earth and in decaying supplied the primitive plants with the necessary organic food stuff. But there we are blocked because animals are parasites of plants. They live on the sugars and so forth that the green leaves have stored up by means of sunshine.

So this was the perplexing situation. Plants can feed on animals or other plants. Animals can feed on plant or other animals. But where could the first animals or plants get their food when there was nothing but mineral matter in the world. It was worse than the old question, which came first, the hen or the egg?

But of late we are beginning to get light on the problem. The wall between the living and non-living is crumbling down. Certain sugars and proteins, such as the plant forms that we eat, can now be made in the laboratory out of inorganic material. Artificial cells have been constructed that grow and crawl and feed themselves and stick out feelers and sub-divide very much like living cells. It has been found that ultra-violet rays, that is, light of such short waves that it cannot be seen, can convert water and carbon dioxide into sugar as chlorophyll does.

These short waves are not contained in the sunshine that reaches the earth today, but it is found that ordinary rays may act the same way in the presence of certain substances such as iron rust in water. These same energetic rays are able to incorporate the nitrogen of mineral salts into compounds like the protein of the living cell. So here we see the possibility that the action of the sunlight on the sea in primordial periods—or even in the present—might produce sufficient food to give a single cell a start in life and enable it to grow and multiply and develop into other and higher forms.

But how this primal cell got to going in this way the biologists are only beginning to surmise. Dr. E. J. Allen at the recent Hull meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science ventures the theory that the first organism was of the animal sort and spherical shape, but that it gradually grew a tail or whip that enabled it to rise to the sunny surface of the sea whenever it sank below and that it there acquired the chlorophyll by which it could make its own food out of the air and water. This is far from knowing what did happen in those early days, but it is a great advance to be able even to speculate as to how it might have happened since not many years ago it seemed that it could not happen at all.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Two young people were killed the other day near Ontario. The machine in which they were riding became stalled on the railroad track, the engine going dead in the emergency. It is possible for any driver to kill his engine, and to do this is a very probable experience for the amateur. These facts make caution at grade crossings all the more necessary. A crossing should be approached slowly always, and yet with the motive power under full control. When the actual passage of the dangerous point is undertaken, it ought to be with sufficient momentum to carry the machine over, even should the engine stop. There could be no excuse for driving on a railroad track in the absence of knowledge as to whether the crossing was clear. There is time to wait. To be on the hither side of the rails one minute, or not to get there for a minute later, could not well be a matter of appreciable consequence. Yet drivers, hurrying, without being in a hurry, cause tragedy every day. The spectator is shocked, the public is sorry, but there is nothing to do about it.

There is talk of blackmail of course. At this writing the women are said to have disappeared. This is good so far as it goes, but they have not yet disappeared from print, a fact deeply to be regretted. It seems to many newspaper men that a paper that goes out of its way to display the details of every dirty mess exposed by quite undesirable persons, fails to be an honor to journalism.

WATCHING THE PARADE

BY JOHN PILGRIM

It must have been a year ago that the house committee at the club was poked into frenzy by the inquiry into the affairs of the gentleman who does the club printing. The steward used to praise it at every meeting with a loud query.

"Where," he asked, "does this guy get his pull?"

Then he explained that he could not get the club's printing done on time or done well and he wanted to change. He is a good steward and so we did not assume that air of virtuous superiority that one does when the other fellow is not really valuable. We took turns at assuring him that the printer was a good fellow.

"One of the nicest men you can meet, Brown," we said fatuously. And Brown would whirl and howl out of the room, uttering profanities and irreverences about house committees. Until one day he burst bounds.

"I've fired the printer and got a printer who will do the work," said he.

It was a terrible moment. The steward—this excellent steward who knows more about running a club than all the house committees that were ever assembled—had dared defy the committee. Condign punishment was demanded, but no one dared administer it. Brown, you see, was a good steward, and the printer was a mighty poor printer, even if he did belong to a few of the best families in town. So the printer stayed fired. By and by the other clubs dropped him, because his pull had broken in the middle. He began to get around to see his friends.

"What's the matter?" he asked, anxiously. "Have I done anything to offend you? Come up to the place and have a drink."

But it did no good. Every one preferred to buy printing of him, because he was such a thoroughly good fellow. But he could not get it through his sleek, symmetrical, handsome head that business must be done in a business way. Pulls do not pull forever when the goods are not being delivered. Social connections, relatives, friendships, likableness, not one of them are as good in the long run as a mere muttish fashion of making good.

All this came to my mind this morning when I read the story of the printer's bankruptcy.

ELMER WAYNE BENSON, JUNIOR, PICKED BY EXPOSITION JUDGES AS THE BEST BABY IN BURBANK

Handsome Young Son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Benson, Central Avenue, Is Picked as First Prize-Winner by Five Women Judges

SLIGHT MIX-UP, BUT EVERYONE IS HAPPY

Valuable Prizes Are Given First Six Winners by Merchants of Burbank; "Kiwanis Night" to Feature at the Exposition Tonight

The all-important question in Burbank—that of who is the prettiest baby in the city—has been answered, the name of the prize winner being Elmer Wayne Benson, jr., the proud and happy parents of Elmer being Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Benson of Central avenue.

Alluded to after the contest at the Merchants' exposition, where the contest was held Wednesday afternoon, as the "perfect baby," Elmer was given first place of honor by five women judges.

By proving himself the best baby of the 58 entered, Elmer, who can raise himself in a chair even if he cannot walk, was awarded a pretty and convenient high chair, which will enable him to take part in the dining-room events at his home.

The chair was the gift of DeMoss & Hollomon, prominent Burbank furniture dealers.

By a mistake, baby "No. 36" was awarded fifth prize instead of sixth prize.

As the names of the winners were not secured by the judges, the youngster carrying away fifth prize was not learned.

However, little Miss Vera May Rogers, age 6 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Rogers, was in a happy mood and agreed to take sixth prize instead of fifth prize.

The reason that the judges did not have the names of the babies was due to the fact that they judged the youngsters by number and not by name, in order to show that they were impartial.

Also, each baby was escorted to the judges' stand by some one who was not the mother or father of the child.

In announcing the names of the winners, Mrs. T. A. Carlton stated that 58 prizes were really needed, alluding to the fact that each mother considered her baby the best.

However, most of the mothers whose babies failed to win prizes took their misfortune in a good-natured way.

"Of course my baby is the prettiest; she is so good looking that they did not want to make the others feel bad," declared one proud mother with a chuckle after the names of the winners had been announced.

The names of the winners and the prizes they received were:

First prize—Elmer Wayne Benson, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Benson, Central avenue; high chair donated by DeMoss & Hollomon.

Second prize—Ralph Vanderpool, age 3½ months, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Vanderpool, Dundee; comfort for crib, Nossoff Furniture company.

Third prize—Frank Arnold Mullens, jr., age 6 months, Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Mullens, Orange Grove avenue; ivory baby set, Mrs. E. I. Barras of the Parisian store.

Fourth prize—Lucille Wetterauer, 1011 Santa Anita avenue; pair of baby shoes, Torelli Shoe store.

Fifth prize—Name unknown; baby dress by Mrs. H. LaPask of the LaPask Music store and Singer agency.

Sixth prize—Vera May Rogers, age 6 months, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Rogers, 148 Palm avenue; $1 in merchandise, Parisian store.

There was no question of the prize winners being beauties. In fact, all of the babies entered were "prize-winners," making the task of the judges a hard one.

The big feature of tonight's program at the exposition is the fact that it is Kiwanis night, all members of the newly organized Kiwanis club being slated to attend.

Large crowds continue to attend the exposition, which will be open during the afternoons and nights the remainder of the week.

Rev. Thomas E. Stevenson, pastor of the Burbank Presbyterian church, departed from England a few weeks ago for the United States after an extended tour overseas, according to word received here. Before returning to Burbank he will visit his former home in Pennsylvania.

R. A. Powell, prominent Burbank mortician, insurance specialist and realtor, left Wednesday for Fresno on a business trip. He is expected to return during the first of next week.

CONDITION OF SAN FERNANDO GIRL IS SERIOUS

Trial of Four Mexican Youths in Case Is Postponed

The condition of Dorothy Cox, 14-year-old San Fernando high school girl who is now confined at a local hospital, is yet serious, causing the case against four Mexicans to be postponed. The case was slated to be heard Wednesday.

The four Mexicans are charged with kidnapping the young girl, with drugging her and with robbing and mistreating her.

The affair occurred at San Fernando nearly two weeks ago. She was brought to the local hospital for treatment.

Hunting Speeders Is Easier Than Hunting Deers

Hunting deer is a more exciting pastime than hunting speeders, according to Motor Officer W. E. Gates' version of the matter.

Officer Gates recently spent two days in the Santa Monica mountains.

While the local officer is known to be an expert on the target range, it appears as if "he saw deers," but failed to "kill deers," during his recent hunt.

Mrs. F. W. Pigg, of 405 North Maryland avenue, underwent a major operation Wednesday morning at the Glendale Research hospital.

STATE WATER AND POWER ACT IS DISCUSSED

Burbank Woman's Club Members Told About Measure

Should the citizens of Burbank vote "yes" or "no" on amendment No. 19, the California Water and Power act, at the election November 7?

A lecture for and one against the proposition were made at the meeting of the Burbank Woman's club at their headquarters Tuesday afternoon.

No official action was taken as the result of the two addresses, each member of the club to consider the matter individually.

R. J. Rosenberg, now of Glendale, has leased a portion of the building at 134 East San Fernando boulevard, Burbank, and expects to be open for business next week.

THE REFERENDUM

(EDITOR'S NOTE:—This column will be devoted to signed propaganda relating to the various measures on the state ballot in November and other matter of like nature. Responsibility for statements herein lies with the authors whose names are signed. The space is limited.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28.—The ranks of those lined up against the dismemberment of the Southern Pacific-Central Pacific system in this state have been strengthened by the addition of the Central California Traffic association, a body composed of traffic managers of some of the greatest business organizations in this part of the state.

Convinced that dissolution of this great rail system would mean added freight bills to the extent of several million dollars every year and inferior service due to the two-line haul, the executive committee of this organization, of which A. T. White, traffic manager of the Emporium, is chairman, passed resolutions backing up the chambers of commerce and civic organizations throughout the state, which are going before the interstate commerce commission to state the public's side of the case.

The shippers declare they are not interested in the success of any railroad, but in this case are convinced that if the Union Pacific secures the dismemberment of the S. P.-C. P. system, as it asks, the men who pay freight bills will be the real losers.

The California Electric Railway association, whose membership includes electric transportation companies in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Bakersfield, Fresno, San Jose, Stockton, Sacramento, San Diego and many other parts of the state, also has passed resolutions strongly protesting the unmerger, and has sent copies of the protest to the interstate commerce commission and members of congress interested.

Most of the organizations throughout the state, which have heard arguments on the question of dismemberment, have gone on record against it and have joined the shippers' committee against dismemberment in planning to present the public's case to the commission. — Shippers' Committee Against Dismemberment.

Evidence of the remarkable change in sentiment regarding the $500,000,000 water and power act that has taken place since the measure was framed by a political group several months ago is contained in a statement issued by the People's Economy league.

A year ago the California League of Municipalities voted its entire strength of 241 members in favor of the act. Last week only 47 voted for it at the league's convention in Palo Alto. In addition to this reversal of sentiment a canvass of public officials in Southern California shows that fifty-five mayors and other officials in leading cities are not only against the measure but are working for its defeat.

Here is a list of officials who have signed a resolution condemning the act as "vicious, impractical and a menace to California:

Mr. Goodpatter—Brace up and be a man. And, remember, poverty is no crime.

DOUBLE EXPOSURE IS WONDER OF 'MASQUERADER'

One of the remarkable characteristics in "The Masquerader," the Richard Walton Tully production, starring Guy Bates Post, now at the T D & L Theatre, is the unusual double exposure photography. Even to audiences that have witnessed a great deal of this trick work in recent films and that have been initiated into its mysteries, the double exposure scenes in "The Masquerader" are a revelation. Of necessity, since the two leading roles of Chilcote and Loder are both played by the star, much of the action transpires between these two men. Accordingly there are several sequences of scenes in which one of the characters played by Post crosses the other, hands him a cigarette and a light, gives him his clothes—and even pushes him out of the room.

It will be recalled that Tully is a practical theatrical inventor, having secured patents for several stage devices which he has employed in his various theatrical productions. With this experience and the assistance of such experts as Director James Young, Art Director Wilfred Buckland and Cinemtographer Georges Benoit, it was to be expected that the unusual double exposure photography would be seen in this film.

The final test

The real value of a motor lubricant can be determined in only one way—through its use in the engine for which it is intended.

Hence this company maintains an engine-testing laboratory, equipped with a Sprague dynamometer, in which Zerolene and other lubricants are constantly being tested under actual operating conditions.

This dynamometer laboratory is in charge of competent trained men, who spend all their time in conducting comparative tests of Zerolene and other lubricants in automobile, airplane, marine, truck and tractor engines.

Correct Lubrication Recommendations

On the results of these tests, supplemented by equally careful tests in the field and on the road, our Board of Lubrication Engineers bases its Chart of Recommendations.

Close attention is given to the design and construction of the engine. It is necessary to know, first, the speed of the bearing surfaces; second, clearance between bearing surfaces; third, temperatures at which bearings operate; fourth, pressures exerted in each bearing; fifth, the means provided for the distribution of the oil to each bearing.

The recommendations embodied in the Zerolene Chart are calculated with the greatest precision, and if Zerolene is used in accordance with them, correct lubrication and maximum fuel mileage are assured.

THE LITTLE PIG FACES A LONG JOURNEY

Kick, kick, kick! went the little pig's legs in the water of the Big Marsh. They were getting awfully tired. He'd have given all the frogs in the world for a bit of solid ground to rest them on. But it must be very far off, or the crow would have come back by this time to tell him where it was. If he could have turned his head he'd have seen the bulrushes waving not the length of a tree from him. But the only ones he could see looked as if they were a full day's swim away.

He didn't feel any better when the old crow did come. "Faith, Piggy," said he, "there's northing but wather the way ye're headin' to the river beyont. If ye can't manage to turn, it's a lost pig ye are. The current'll take ye along and sweep ye out into the oceans ay the world loike it does the logs."

The poor little pig began to cry. Tears as salty as the seat itself ran out of his eyes, and trickled down his nose, and dropped into the water before him. He was so discouraged he stopped swimming. But when he let himself go the water held up his chin and he drifted along as comfortable as a duck in a pond. If only he could have tucked his head under a wing the way the ducks can, so the dancy little waves wouldn't splash his nose, he would have gone to sleep. It was as cool as any mud wallow he'd ever lain in.

"Faith, Piggy," said he. "there's nothing but water the way ye're heading."

He was so comfortable he began to think more cheerfully. After all, this was an easy way to see the world, as no pig had ever seen it. "There's two sides to everything," he said, "and they're seldome aloike. Thin the ocean's got another side. How is it, Oi wonder. Oi s'pose ye've been there." He thought maybe it was a full day's drift away. But the crow didn't answer. He had seen something floating by that he wanted to take in. But he had to wait till it floated onto the top of a dancy wave, so he could pick it up without getting his wings wet.

"Oi wonder, now, will there be pens on the other side ay the sea, the loikes ay the one Oi lived in?" the little pig went on thinking to himself. Then, "Oingph! Oingph!" he squealed, and his feet started going at top speed again. "Iver since ye sent me—Oi've been thryin' to go—home. But your pond is foriver—in the way and Oi'm —foriver—fallin' in." He couldn't see the stranger yet, but somewhere right beside him he could smell a smell he remembered.

"Well, at present I shouldn't think you were going any place in particular," said a voice in his ear. It didn't sound a bity angry. But the little pig was far too scared to notice. He was sure this was Ripple Beaver, come to find out why he had disobeyed her. Whatever did she mean to do to him?

FOLLOW MY LEADER

It was "follow my leader" in days of old,
And the leader of us, he was brave and bold,
He was strong of limb and was quick of eye,
With a shout and a call and a merry cry.
It was over the fence and up the tree,
And far on the limb as a boy could be,
And down on the turf with a jump and spring,
And on with zest to some other thing.

It was "follow my leader," whatever might be
The task he set, and a boy was he
With dash and courage and unafraid,
And many the daring plans he laid
To bloody a nose or to bark a shin,
As he dashed and darted out and in,
And jumped and scrambled and to and fro
And up in a tree top and down below.

It was "follow my leader," with muscles tense
As he made us walk on the old rail fence,
And climb the barn roof and slip and slide
To the top of the hay stack right beside,
Then over the bank with no stop or look,
And into the water and through the brook.
And with splash and sputter and cry we raced
Through water that reached to a tall boy's waist.

It was "follow my leader" and woe to him
Who was fearful of spirit or weak of limb,
And who failed to follow where leaders led,
Romped and rollicked and frolicked and sped.
And today it is Love or is Hope or Fame
And all of us playing the same old game,
And they are the leaders and set the pace
And all of us running the old, old race!

LITTLE TALKS ON THRIFT

By S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift.

S. W. STRAUS

ONE of the most important phases of thrift practice is the preservation of health. Too often we think of thrift only in terms of money or material resources, but health thrift is of equal importance. This is true because good health adds much to one's efficiency and capacity for capable work; also the days and years of one's usefulness are increased through the proper care of one's physical being.

That the span of human life is steadily lengthening is shown by recent statistics. The Massachusetts death rate is used as the basis of these computations because such records have been kept there longer than anywhere else in the country. In 1789 the average length of life in that commonwealth was 35.5 years. By 1855 it had increased to forty years. In 1901 it was 47.7 years; in 1910, 52.2 years and in 1921, 55.2 years. Nation-wide reports show that as the result of scientific disease-preventive efforts, the average expectation of life has been lengthened four years during the last eleven years.

It has been officially stated that 50 per cent of the deaths in New York State last year resulted from preventable or postponable diseases, thus showing the possibilities that exist for the prolongation of human life.

While much is being done through various state and municipal governments, these results can be greatly enhanced by individual effort. As is the case in financial matters, much depends on attention to details and incessant watchfulness.

If by living more simply and more sensibly we can greatly increase our daily efficiency and prolong the years of our usefulness it is the part of good thrift to do so.

A New and Charming Home

Here is a pleasant little one-family house of miniature colonial design that would stand out in all its beauty in any community.

The artistic pillars and the broad and wide veranda, together with the snowy white painting, give a disitnction to this home that is compelling and irresistible.

The floor plans shown above indicate the interesting way in which the architect and builder have combined their genius in creating an interior of great distinction.

A few plants and a little shrubbery would greatly enhance the beauty of the house.
